MRS. HAWKINS DIES

SHE PASSED AWAY AT 5 O'CLOCK FRIDAY MORNING.

A LINGERING ILLNESS

Funeral Arrangements Will Not Be Made Until Return of Son, Winfred, From Columbia.

After months of intense suffering from a physical condition that baffled the knowledge and skill of physicians, Mrs. C. A. Hawkins passed away Friday morning at 5 o'clock at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clark Andrews, 122 West Edward street.

Mrs. Hawkins was the wife of Professor C. A. Hawkins of the Northwest Normal faculty.

The funeral arrangements will not be completed until the arrival of Mrs. Hawkins' son, Winfred Hawkins, a post-graduate student at the state university at Columbia. It is expected, however, that the services will be held Sunday afternoon from the First Baptist church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Louis M. Hale.

Mrs. Hawkins' illness began a year and a half ago, while she was in Columbia with her sons, who were in school there. She did not think her failing strength was of a serious nature, and did not seek medical aid until she returned to her home in Maryville for the summer vacation. It seems that she had waited too long to receive any permanent benefit from treatment, and although she tried to be ready to return to Columbia with her sons the following September, she was unable to do so, and took up her home with her parents, where every attention possible has been given her by her husband, parents, nurses and physicians.

In September she was taken to Dr. Hermann Pearce's sanitarium in Kansas City for treatment, but after a week or so she was pronounced incurable and was brought home again. She regained considerable strength after her return and much hope for her recovery was entertained by her family and friends. She became so well that she sent for several old friends to visit her, and the enjoyment of the visits was mutual, for she seemed entirely herself again, eager to be in her own home, "by Christmas time, sure," she said, "in time for Winfred's holiday visit at home, for we will have to begin housekeeping all over again, just like we did when we were married, and we are going to have such a nice time." Not long ago her strength began failing rapidly and death was expected when it came.

A few days ago Mrs. Hawkins asked her nurse to leave her a little while and tell her mother to come to her. What the two talked about there alone is too sacred to be told here. But among the things the daughter said was that she was glad that since she could not live longer to enjoy her family, when her boys were becoming more and more a joy and satisfaction to her, and she could not longer be the help to her husband she wished to be, she was glad she could die in the home of her parents; the home she first knew anything about, and in the very room where she had taken her marriage vows. She referred to many happy occasions in the old home, and after she had accustomed her mother to the thought of what she was bringing to her mind she told her she had the text selected for her funeral sermon. And these are the words: "She hath done what she could." And those who knew Mrs. Hawkins will know with her that she lived her life to the full measure of its duties and responsibilities. It was not in a spirit of pride that she gave the text for her funeral sermon, but with the honest conviction that she had done all she could. And it is true. For she had presented her body a living sacrifice in her home, in the church of her faith, and, let it be reverently added, it was "holy, acceptable unto God." Not a talent was buried or folded away. Every power she possessed was in constant use or burnished and ready when needed.

She had the education of her oldest son in her care until he was ready for the high school and she continued to be of assistance to him until he graduated from high school and then went with him to Columbia and made a home for both her boys for three years, one attending the state university and the other the high school. She enjoyed her residence at Columbia and was active in church work there as in her home town, and it was a keen disappointment to her that she could not return for her son's senior year, and especially at commencement time, when she wished to be present for his graduation. Her letters to him would be fit for publication in the best literary works of the day.

Eva Louisa Andrews was born on a farm near Albert Lea, Minn., January 22, 1868. She was the only daughter of Clark and Eva Louisa (Pitcher) Andrews. When she was a year and a half old her parents came to Maryville and settled on a farm three miles north of Maryville, where they lived three years. They then came to Maryville and have lived in their residence at 122 West Edward street since. Eva was converted at the age of 12 years and baptized into the fellowship of the First Baptist church by Rev. H. J. LaTour. She grew into a lovely Christian womanhood and was in favor with everyone, young and old. She attended the public schools for a few years and then entered the M. S. Embree academy of Maryville and was made ready for the last two years' course in the high school. When she finished the high school course she began teaching in our schools and had the fourth grade five years.

She was married June 22, 1891, to Charles A. Hawkins, who is now head of the department of Latin of the Northwest Normal. They went to Hopkins to make their home, where Mr. Hawkins was superintendent of the schools, and after two years came to Maryville, where Mr. Hawkins was principal of our high school two years and superintendent fifteen years.

Two sons were born to them, Winfred Weeden Hawkins, now 21 years old, who is specializing in German at the state university, and John Ruskin Hawkins, 15 years old, a Maryville high school student.

From her girlhood Mrs. Hawkins was a leader in the work of her church especially the social and educational work. She was organist from the time she was 15 years old until her marriage; a successful Sunday school teacher and in special mission study work with children; president of the Woman's Missionary society, and for the first twelve years was superintendent of the home department of the Sunday school, giving up that work when she went to Columbia. For several years she had the care of over eighty students in the home department work and visited them. Her bright, cheerful manner won for her a lasting place in the hearts of all with whom she came in contact and her death will be truly mourned.

Beside her husband, sons and parents, she leaves four brothers, Edward L. Andrews of this city, of the firm of Andrews & Hempstead; Ernest J. Andrews of Shenandoah, Ia.; Arthur A. Andrews of Conway Springs, Kan., and Harley Andrews of Pasadena, Cal.

THE W. R. C. BANQUET.

Given Thursday Evening in the K. P. Hall—Was a Very Enjoyable Affair.

One of the guests present at the W. R. C. banquet Thursday evening has written the following for this paper:

The banquet given Thursday evening by the W. R. C. at the K. P. hall was a very pleasant affair and thoroughly enjoyed by all present. The object of the banquet was three fold. First, a token of respect for the members of Sedgwick post, No. 21, G. A. R., in whose interest largely the W. R. C. was organized. Second, in honor of Mrs. Catherine Miller and Mrs. Gus DeLana. Mrs. Miller leaves today for California to be gone during the winter and Mrs. DeLana leaves in a few days for Oklahoma. The third object was to offer the members of Sedgwick post an opportunity to become honorary members of the W. R. C. One feature of special mention was the excellent music, both instrumental and vocal. "Long Live the W. R. C." is the devout wish of the "old boys."

FOR IMPROVEMENT

MANY SUGGESTIONS MADE AT COMMERCIAL CLUB BANQUET.

TO MOVE HITCHRACKS

Plan Offered by J. H. Sewell—Banquet a Great Success—Much Interest Taken in Speeches.

At the Commercial club banquet held Thursday evening at the Ream hotel, a suggestion was offered to provide a better place to move the hitchracks and to take the same from around the court house square. The suggestion was well received by more than the 100 banqueters present and was offered by John H. Sewell.

Mr. Sewell also advocated that the court house fence should be taken down, as both the fence and the hitchracks were an eyesore to the city. His plan is to provide hitchracks for the farmers in a much better place than around the square.

Maryville will probably have an incineration plant for the purpose of burning the refuge, trash and other rubbish that is collected around town and are now dumped around places in the city. The proposition was advanced by J. F. Hull, when the question of a dumping place for all such trash and rubbish was brought up by Mose Hahn, a member of the city council. Mr. Hahn said that at present all such stuff is dumped in a ravine north of Maryville, and that during the rainy weather the water from this creek runs into the 102 river above the city water plant, making the water bad. Everyone of the many diners was strongly of the opinion that the city should have such an incineration plant, where everything is burned, and the Commercial club and the city administration will make efforts to have such a plant here.

These suggestions and many others for the welfare of the city were advanced by the speakers of the evening.

Ernest Wray, who is a farmer living near Maryville, said that there should be 100 farmers or more members of the Commercial club, and told of the mutual relations between the club and the farmers, and how much benefit it would be for both of them.

Mayor A. S. Robey spoke of the city administration and the Commercial club, and urged that there should be co-operation. He spoke of the many things that the city administration had been able to accomplish by the work of the club. Of one thing mentioned by him was that of the recent telephone merger. He said at first that the city administration was not strongly for the merger, but when a petition containing 90 per cent of the telephone users was presented to the council, that board at once gave their consent to the merger. Mayor Robey also added that the merger had proved to be just the right thing, and that there has been no complaint offered since it was done.

The finances of the Commercial club was spoken of by George L. Wilfley, and money was raised at the dinner for the purpose of paying the secretary's salary of $100 a month. Enough money was secured so that the club can have a paid secretary for the coming year.

In raising the money for the paid secretary, a proposition was made which carried unanimously that the city give the club $10 a month out of the general revenue fund to apply for that official. The matter will be taken up before the council by a committee from the Commercial club.

Other speakers were Rev. Robert L. Finch of Kansas City, Kan.; Henry Wray, W. O. Garrett, W. H. Gilbert.

The banquet was a great success and there was a great deal of interest taken in what each speaker had to say and especially the many good suggestions offered. Music during the serving of the dinner was by Maulding's orchestra, and it was excellent music. E. C. Curfman presided as toastmaster.

SECURE EDUCATION

HON. WM. J. BRYAN STATES IMPORTANCE OF LEARNING.

NEVER MISS A LESSON

Parents Should Keep Children in School—It is a Blessing if Used Rightly.

Every student in the schools of Maryville should read the following signed article by Hon. William J. Bryan on the "Importance of an Education."

"A school census showing the number of boys and girls at study is a guaranty as to the nation's future. The course of instruction, beginning with the kindergarten and ending with the university, is intended to cover about sixteen years of the life of each generation—it seems a long time when one looks forward to it, but it passes quickly and happily. There is no way in which these years can be better employed; no amount of money that can be made during the years covered by the school course can be as valuable to the individual as the information collected and the training secured. The interest paid by a bank, the dividends earned on stock sand the profits accruing from other investments are small compared with the returns which an education yields. Money is only valuable because it will buy other things and there are some things which money cannot buy. Dollars will not bring to the untutored mind a solace for wasted opportunities.

"One of the advantages of age is that it can assume the right to give advice; let me use the presumption and offer a word of counsel. To the younger students, the most valuable thought that can be presented is that each lesson is important. We can find an illustration in the brick. A single brick is about as useless a thing as can be imagined, but a large number of bricks, properly laid together make a wall, and the walls joined make a house. If a brick is missing from the wall there is a hole and if many are missing, the holes are so numerous that the wall becomes inimportant, and yet the lessons properly joined together form an education, and an education is of the highest value. If we could look upon an education as we can upon a wall, we would see the hole caused by a lesson missed. We cannot do this, but we do know that when many lessons are missed the education is defected. 'Never miss a lesson' should be the motto during the earlier years until study has become a pleasure and then admonition is unnecessary.

"The greatest danger that the intermediate student has to encounter is that of leaving school before the course is completed. Society ought to be able to rely upon the parent to keep the child in school, and yet there are parents who seem to be ignorant of the value of education. Would any parent think of cutting off a boy's arm to compete with boys who have two arms? Such a thing could not be thought of—it would be too cruel to be described by words. And yet in this age the father who deliberately deprives his son of the opportunity to secure an education to compete with the boys who are well educated is more cruel than the father who would cut off his boy's arm.

"But let us suppose that the student has passed through the first and last stages, has been careful to attend every recitation and has completed the entire course, what then? Is that all? by no means.

"An education is a means to an end, not an end in itself. Whether the education will contribute toward the happiness of the individual and toward his usefulness to the community depends entirely upon his life's purpose. Just as the railway engine or the automobile can be of great use when properly guided but can do tremendous harm when not controlled so the education may be helpful or harmful according to the use made of it. Here again resort may be had to an illustration. The buzzard and the bee may be taken as representing two views of life. The buzzard soars high but never gets so high but that it is looking for something to eat; when it dies it leaves nothing to make its existence remembered. The bee, on the other hand, has an instinct for sweetness it knows where the honey is. It feeds upon the best while it lives and when it dies it leaves a monument of honey to make the world glad that it has lived. The buzzard must be a buzzard, and we cannot blame it for it; the bee must be a bee and deserves no credit for it; but man is free to choose which he will imitate; the buzzard or the bee. Some imitate one and some the other. There are those who, however high they go, are always looking for something to eat, something to wear, something for themselves; when such a one dies the world is not grieved. There are others who produce more than they consume and when they die leave the world richer than when they found it.

"To those who make the right use of education it is a blessing without alloy. It makes one a fit companion for himself and enlarges his capacity for service. As one cannot rightfully draw from society a larger sum than that which fairly measures the service which he renders an education is valuable to its possessor because, by increasing the contribution which he can make to society it increases the reward that he can legitimately draw from society. In a larger sense, an education rightly used is of priceless value; it enables its possessor to better meet the responsibilities of life, better discharge the duties imposed by society and better fulfill the destiny that his Creator has set before him.

HOG RAISING PAYS

SUBURBS OF MARYVILLE A GOOD PLACE TO RAISE THEM.

USED PURE BRED STOCK

Mr. Geo. Hulet Sold Nineteen for $338.58, Making Net Profit of $170.63.

Hog raising in the suburbs of Maryville is a profitable business, according to John E. Cameron of the Normal agricultural department. Prof. Cameron, in speaking of it to a representative of this paper, said:

Mr. George Hulet sold on the local market last week two litters of pigs, nineteen in number, for $338.58. They were but 7 months and 3 days old. During that time a careful account was kept of the entire expense of feed. The pigs had the run of a bluegrass pasture, which is not included in the following cost.

2,000 pounds of shorts, $24.50.
140 bushels corn, at 36 cents, $88.50.
60 bushels wheat, at 78 cents, $46.80.
Grinding wheat, a little stock food and tankage, $8.15.
Total cost, $167.95.

The corn was shelled, soaked in water from one feed to the next. The shorts and ground wheat was fed in the same way. No milk was fed during the time. One the above ration two of the pigs weighed 290 pounds each, and the nineteen averaged 220 pounds, making a net profit to the owner of $170.63 in seven months and three days, or nearly $25 per month. The cost of the feed also included the keeping of the mother brood sows during the time.

"Now the reasons for the rapid growth and good profits obtained, are due largely to two things.

"First, well selected pure bred pedigreed sire and dams as the ancestors of the pigs.

"Second, they were fed during the time a well balanced pig ration. A ration that would produce growth as well as fat.

"How many of the farmers would think of purchasing a ton of shoats and getting 60 bushels of their wheat ground to feed to nineteen pigs and two brood sows? Does he know that corn and blue grass does not furnish a balanced ration for pigs? Corn produces fat and not much growth.

"Is it not true that pigs are often kept in a blue grass pasture or in a dry feed lot and fed on corn for a long period of time and when the farmer figures up the amount of 63 cent corn fed, the profits are very small, indeed? When the grower of pigs learns that clover, alfalfa, cowpeas, soy beans or winter vetch will largely take the place of ground wheat and shorts, and grows these for his pigs, then his profits may be even greater than those in this case of the seventeen pigs.

Notice also that his profit was made from pure bred stock, Mr. Hulet would not think of feeding for the market any other kind of stock.

"Should a majority of the farmers decide to use only pure bred sides for his pigs next year, and grow some leguminous crops, as clover, alfalfa or cowpeas to feed along with his corn. Whatever is done, see to it that a ration is fed that will produce both growth and fat in the shortest possible time. Then the profits from hog raising will be materially increased."

MR. WILSON CALLS FOR PRAYER.

The President's First Thanksgiving Proclamation Issued Today.

President Wilson issued his first Thanksgiving proclamation yesterday, as follows:

The season is at hand in which it has been our long respected custom, as a people, to turn in praise and thanksgiving to Almighty God for his manifold mercies and blessings to us as a nation.

The year that has just passed has been marked in a peculiar degree by manifestations of his gracious and beneficent providence. We have not only had peace throughout our own borders and with the nations of the world, but that peace has been brightened by constantly multiplying evidence of genuine friendship, of mutual sympathy and understanding and of the happy operation of many elevating influences both of ideal and of practice.

The nation has been not only prosperous, but has proved its capacity to take calm counsel amid the rapid movement of affairs and deal with its own life in a spirit of candor, righteousness and comity.

We have seen the practical completion of a great work at the isthmus of Panama, which not only explifies the nation's abundant resources to accomplish what it will and the distinguished skill and capacity of its public servants, but also promises the beginning of a new age, of new contrasts, bonds and new achievements of co-operation and peace.

"Righteousness exalteth the nation," and "Peace on earth, good will toward men," furnish the only foundation upon which can be built the lasting achievements of the human spirit. The year has brought us the satisfactions of work well done and fresh visions of our duty which will make the work of the future better still.

Now, therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the 27th of November, next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and invite the people throughout the land to cease from their wonted occupations and in their several homes and places of worship render thanks to Almighty God.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington, this 23d day of October, in the year of our Lord, 1913, and of the Independence of the United States of America the 138th.

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON,
By the president.

DIAZ TAKES REFUGE IN U. S. CONSULATE

Escorted From Residence by Lind and Other Americans.

Vera Cruz, Mex., Oct. 24.—General Felix Diaz left the residence of his mother-in-law, where he has been staying, escorted by President Wilson's personal representative, John Lind, the American consul, W. W. Canada, and his secretary, two American residents and a few friends.

It is believed that he is on his way to the American consulate to take refuge there. General Diaz first went to the German hotel, which is separated from the American consulate by a wall.

The military authorities have been notified that a special train has been made ready for General Diaz, and have issued orders to the federal soldiers to surround the block. General Diaz, it is stated, will be arrested if he leaves the consulate, the federal officers believing that he has gone direct there.

WILSON WILL NOT TALK

President Declines to Discuss British and Mexican Situation.

Washington, Oct. 24.—At his usual semi-weekly conference with the newspaper correspondents President Wilson, for the first time, declined to discuss foreign relations and asked to be excused from speaking of the attitude of Great Britain or any other phase of the Mexican situation.

The president's departure from his custom of speaking frankly on international affairs was regarded as deeply significant regarding the situation caused by the actions of Sir Lionel Carden, British minister to Mexico, and Great Britain's attitude toward the Mexican situation generally.

The disposition of all officials here to maintain absolute silence with regard to the inquiries by Ambassador Page at London indicated that the whole affair will be handled in the quiet realm of diplomacy. There was confidence that further and more intimate discussion of details would result in a friendly understanding.

RESCUED FROM NIAGARA

Detroit Man in Motor Boat Caught in Whirlpool.

Niagara Falls, Oct. 24.—Peter W. Langeard of Detroit was rescued after having been four hours in the grasp of the whirlpool below Niagara falls in a small motorboat.

Langeard made the trip through the whirlpool rapids from the Maid of the Mist landing, on the Canadian side, to the whirlpool to furnish a subject for a moving picture film.

Driftwood clogged the propeller of his boat and he was powerless to bring the craft out of the vortex. Fred Preston swam out with a life line and the boat was finally drawn ashore.

Beilis Breaks Down at His Hearing.

Kiev, Russia, Oct. 24.—The strain of his hearing is beginning to tell upon Mendel Beilis, on trial charged with the murder of the Christian boy, Yushinsky, in March, 1911. He suddenly broke down, buried his head in his hands and sobbed aloud. The evidence given was not such as to cause him alarm.

Woman and Daughter Murdered.

Devil's Lake, N. D., Oct. 24.—Mrs. B. T. Dillon and her twelve-year-old daughter, Luella Marshall, of Ray, N. D., are dead and Mr. Dillon, husband, will die, the bodies of all three being riddled with bullets from a revolver in the hands of Maurice Culbertson, a former husband of Mrs. Dillon, who has since been captured.

Clawson Guilty of Murder.

Wilber, Neb., Oct. 24.—The jury in the Clawson murder case returned a verdict, finding him guilty of murder in the second degree for killing Ross McKinsey of Dorchester.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION OR GAS

Take "Pape's Diapepsin" and in Five Minutes You'll Wonder What Became of Misery in Stomach.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin, which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.—Advertisement.

FAVORS GOVERNMENT BANK

Vanderlip Evolves Substitute for Currency Measure.

Washington, Oct. 24.—A government controlled and operated central bank, to dominate the financial system of the country, entered the legislative arena as a rival of the administration regional reserve currency plan. Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City bank of New York, explained the new plan to the senate banking and currency committee. He had evolved the new scheme as a result of conferences with members of the committee whom he said had expressed approval of such a plan.

Under his proposal the government, through a board of seven members, would establish a huge bank, with $100,000,000 capital, which would control financial conditions by powers conferred on it to issue money, to rediscount commercial paper for banks and to concentrate the reserve gold of the country.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Bilious, Stomach Sour, Give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleaning" is ofttimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup company." Don't be fooled!—Advertisement.

WHY 7,000 DRUGGISTS

Guarantee and Recommend Vinol.

If any one should know the value of a medicine it is the retail druggist who sells it.

Therefore, when over seven thousand of the best retail druggists in the country recommend Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, without oil, as the greatest tonic reconstructor and strength creator they have ever sold, it must indicate the value of Vinol.

We could publish columns of such testimony as the following:

J. C. Brady, druggist of Fall River, Mass., says: "In cases where cod liver oil, emulsions and other tonics fail, Vinol will heal, strengthen and cure."

C. A. Potterfield, druggist, of Charleston, W. Va., says: "It is a pleasure to sell Vinol as it gives such universal satisfaction."

Hunter & McGee, druggists, of Jackson, Miss., say: "We have great confidence in the strength creating and curative value of Vinol."

We ask every run-down, nervous, debilitated, aged or weak person or any person suffering from chronic coughs, colds or bronchitis, to try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that their money will be returned if it does not do all we claim.—The Orear Henry Drug Co., Maryville, Mo. —Advertisement.
